ARE AMERICANS ABOUT TO RETURN TO BONDAGE

By Ralph H. Taylor

Congressman John Phillips of Banning, one of the ablest men in the lower house from California or any other state recently cited a formula covering the cycles of human history. It is worth repeating, since it shows graphically how far the American people have suffered their traditional liberties to be put in jeopardy.

1 Human beings progress from bondage to spiritual faith.
2 From spiritual faith to courage.
3 From courage to freedom.
4 From freedom to some measure of physical abundance.
5 From abundance to selfishness.
6 From selfishness to complacency.
7 From complacency to apathy.
8 From apathy to fear.
9 From fear to dependency.
10 From dependency back to bondage.

That is a striking concept—and one to cause disquiet to millions old enough to have been adult a generation ago.

It was the spiritual faith of our forefathers that gave them the courage to rise against the tyranny of George III and win the freedoms of the Bill of Rights. Under those freedoms Americans built on a continent wide wilderness the greatest civilization in human annals.

With abundance came complacency. No people in history were more complacent than the American people in the 1920s—the lush era of wonderful nonsense. It was the great age of over extended credit, with families loading up beyond their means, on the installment plan, with every comfort and luxury their hearts could desire. Stocks soared above their true worth. Money was easy in that silk shirt decade.

Inflation in the urban areas forced a nation wide depression in agriculture, because farm produce prices did not rise to match the costs of manufactured goods and elevated wage scales.

Depressed farm buying power spread its effect to depress the market for products of urban management and labor—and so the depression crept over America to cause the disaster of 1929.

At that point, complacency and apathy gave way to fear.

The New Deal came in. It was a philosophy based on fear. The sturdy self reliance that was traditionally American was dispossessed by a negative reliance upon government. At first, millions of people accepted government make work jobs and doles as emergency relief—then with time came to depend upon them as permanently necessary.

The extent to which the American people have slipped into the anemia of dependency upon government has been demonstrated startingly since the end of the war emergency. All basis for depression era fear has gone. The nation has enormous pent up buying power, and a dearth of workers instead of a surplus. Yet the philosophy of dependency is still a tremendous force in this nation—tending toward outright bondage to government.

Government now proposes with the concurrence and support of an astonishing number of Americans to guarantee full employment for everyone; to guarantee wages whether a man works or not;; to care for every person in sickness and in health; to set rules and regulations for every phase of life, business and private. People are no longer according to this entrenched philosophy to depend upon personal initiative and courage for anything they need. In any eventuality, they'll be taken care of by government.

The price? There's the rub.

The government would confer all those benefits at the people's expense. At the present rate of taxation—federal, state and local—every wage earner, every business man, every farmer contributes fully a third of his income to government in hidden or direct taxes.

If this trend is continued, its climax can be nothing else than complete surrender of the people's control of their own finances and affairs and independence to government—in brief, socialism.

The sole hope against this eventuality is a return to the beginning of the cycle before it is too late— a return to spiritual faith in the tradition our forefathers gave us, to reliance upon the values of individual courage and responsibility.

Sometimes, especially on blue days it appears that the time for this return is getting short.

MISSING PANTS OF ALLEGHANY CORPSE FOUND

An autopsy upon the body of Ballantyne Browne found dead Tuesday in Alleghany revealed that he had not suffered from a fractured skull though scalp cuts and contusions indicated considerable injury. The autopsy made by Dr. Norbert Frey, indicated he had died of a brain hemorrhage.

FUTURE FARMERS TO DEBATE IN SAN FRANCISCO

SAN FRANCISCO, March 18—Northern and southern California will send their finest young public speakers to San Francisco this month to determine the championship of the future farmers of America state public speaking contest.

On Wednesday March 27 the two finalists in the state wide oratory contest will meet before a general assembly of the George Washington high school in San Francisco. The contest sponsored by the state department of education bureau of agricultural education was participated in by hundreds of young Californians from 170 future farmer chapters throughout the state.

Selection of San Francisco as the scene for the contest finals was explained by George P. Couper of the Bureau of Agricultural Education: We feel that by holding the state championship contest before the student body assembly of one of San Francisco's metropolitan high schools better understanding will be created between the country and the city. This clearer understanding seems particulaly important in these times when we hear of so many controversies over farm prices, farm profits and farm labor.

Semi finals of the future farmers contest were under way last week at Petaluma high school and at California polytechnic school at San Luis Obispo. Competing at Petaluma for the northern California tri region championship were boys from Loli, Yuba City and Fortuna. The contestants for the southern California tri-region title at San Luis Obispo represented Hollister, Porterville and Van Nuys.

The winner of the finals at San Francisco will compete in the western states finals at Santa Fe, N. M. on April 7 and if he wins there will have the opportunity of competing in the national public speaking finals to be held at Kansas Cit during the national convention of the future farmers of America. October 20-24.

MEDICAL CENTER AT S. F. TO BE ENLARGED

SAN FRANCISCO, March 18—A hope that the University of California medical center at San Francisco will become one of the great medical centers of the world was expressed today by Gov. Earl Warren.

The governor approved a $4,000,000 appropriation for a new science building and new teaching hospital at the institution. He previously had approved a $7,000,000 appropriation for establishing a medical clinic and teaching center at University of California at Los Angeles.

With a modern medical center in both northern and southern California the governor said, the state will be nearer a goal of the best teaching facilities it is possible to develop.

The basis of all our prosperity and happiness is the health of our people, he added.

Dr. F. F. Smyth dean of the UC Medical School said the new facilities will enable the institution to intensify its apprentice type of medical training. Formerly he said the education of physicians and surgeons was confined largely to lecture classes with little actual bedside training.

Assemblyman Thomas Maloney who witnessed signing of the bill said 70 per cent of the patients treated at the university clinic come from outside San Francisco. In other words it serves the entire state, he said.

Maloney and Assembly G. Johnson of Berkeley were co-authors of the $4,000,000 appropriation bill.

RED CROSS DRIVE

Sheriff Carl J. Tobiassen who heads the Red Cross drive reported yesterday that approximately $500 has been subscribed thus far. Two donations of $100 each were made this week by Mr. and Mrs. Fred F. Cassidy and Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Bennetts.

HEALTH BOARD TO HALT SEWAGE USE OF STREAMS

No new permits will be issued by the State Board of Public Health for the disposal of raw sewage into the California streams, bays and ocean waters and all outstanding permits for this practice will be revoked by the board by January 1, 1947 Dr. Wilton L. Halverson state director of public health announces.

The ruling of the board will require all communities which discharge sewage into bodies of water to pretreat the sewage to render it inoffensive and not dangerous to the public health.

The State Bureau of Sanitary Engineering was instructed by the board to investigate the status of all sewage disposal systems operating under state permits and to recommend suspension or modification where continuance is not warranted by the facts. State law requires that public disposal of domestic sewage and industrial wastes be by permit from the state board of public health.

The rapid population growth and expansion of industries have rendered many disposal systems obsolete and it is known that in some cases permit terms are no longer being met and the health and safety code is being violated. During the war it was impossible to correct this situation but that crisis is now past.

Use which local governments will make of the $90,400,000 appropriation made by the special session of the legislature in the construction and emplomeent act may be affected by the board action. The act provides that the state department of public health declare as to the reasonable adequacy of sewage disposal before a city can secure funds for other projects. The department will utilize its permit system which has been in operation for over 30 years as a means of determining adequacy of local provision for sewage disposal it was announced.

JUST WONDERIN'

I wonder how your garden grows,
White lilies and red rambler rose,
In close proximity, I ween,
To summer squash and cool string bean;
With turnips in the pansy bed
And old Sol smiling overhead.

"It's plantin' time," said the Vermont farmer, "an' its plantin' I are about to be doin." It can't be good plantin' in Vermont yet but it is in California; At least if it is not quite tihe to put in the seeds, it is high time to scan the seed catalogues and to prepare the earth for the flowers and vegetables we wish to cultivate.

How carefully will the true gardener prepare the soil; working it over until it is soft and free from lumps, pebbles and injurious substances. How gently will he deposit the precious seeds in their warm beds and how eagerly will he await the day when the little plants make their appearance above the warm earth. Avave all how zealously will he destroy noxious wees as they appear and rid the soil of snails and other harmful enemies, so that only the good and desirable may flourish and develop into the lovely flowers and succulent vegetables for which he has labored so assiduously.

I wonder if the gardener spends as much time and effort upon the cultivation of the garden of his heart. Perhaps he does, on the other hand perhaps he doesn't. These gardens of the heart are often breeding ground for evil creatures of the night and for weeds of thought that blight an other wise valuable area where flowers should bloom and rich fruitage so needed by the saddened world might grow and flourish.

I wonder if Mr. Churchill was entirely pleased with the wind he raised with his Missouri speech. It was certainly the speech heard around the world but did he set the right winds blowing? Let's look in our hearts and see.

After all, it is not the speech which is important, neither is it the speaker. The orator may be a great and illustrous statesman, or an unknown soap box exhorter; his utterances may scintillate with well ordered paragrahps, or stumble along the trails of uncouth speech; we may judge him and his prouncements too often by their appeal to our emotions and forget the real importance of the speech, lies in its influence upon our trend of thought. What did the Churchill talk magazine article or radio address do to the garden of your heart? That is the question and only you can provide the answer. Did they plant the weeds of suspicion, distrust and fear among your flowers of thought, or did they refresh your mind with those boods of faith and tolerance and mutual understanding which if cultivated may save the world from supreme disaster. Answer for yourself and then determine whether what you have heard or read is a promoter of good or ill, in the garden of your heart and to the world beyond.

Uncle Silas said; "Mr. Hoover's plea for open faced pies, recalls of the waitress who being asked 'how many kinds of pies have you today?' replied,' we got closed, open face and cross bar, but they're all apple." —A. Merriam Conner.

WHAT THE COLUMNISTS SAY

DEFENSE—Wm. Philip Simms

The atomic bomb has radically changed the whole complexion of our national defense. If we go back to sleep now, as we have after every war in the past any enemy with atomic weapons could destroy us before we woke up. Such national defense as we may have in future must be instantly on tap.

ONE SIDED PROP—Marquis Childs

Secretary of State Byrnes has said publicly that our troops will stay in China only so long as they are needed to disarm the Japs and will help in restoring order in the wake of the Japs occupation. That was agreed to at the Moscow conference.

But the tendency of the Nationalists will be to cling to this prop to count on American forces staying on to guard railways and other vital services. This in turn may delay the operation of the truce and make it more difficult to carry out the terms.

SOVIET AIMS—Walter Lippman

The Soviet Union is asking to be made the trustee of Tripolitania, the Italian colony on the African shore of the narrow waters of the central Mediterranean. This goes far beyond the old claim to the Dardanelles.

If Russia were established in Tripolitania which is south of Sicily, it should be able to cut the Mediterranean in half. Not only the Balkans, the Dardanelles and Turkey, but also Egypt, the Suez Canal and the whole Middle East would be severed strategically from the western powers—from Britain, France and the United States.

SPYING—David Lawrence

The American people can hardly blame the Russians for their efforts to ferret out secrets from the Canadian government or any other government when the United States government is making preparations to use a world wide spy system itself. The use of espionage in wartime has always been recognized as on a parity with the other deviations from a moral code between enemy countries but the concept of peace ful nations spying on one another when they are supposed to be friendly is something that cannot be denounced just when it is applied to Russia.

NAVY TEST—Frederick Palmer

When the navy experts should be very excited over the prospect of ending their careers in case the navy is as helpless as a fly swatter against an A-bomb attack, I find them quite cool. They want the test tube truth between what are either overestimates or underestimates of the A-bomb's power as differently reported from Hiroshima.

MERRY GO ROUND—Drew Pearson

Millions of Negroes remember the day when Ickes invited Marian Anderson to sing on the steps of the Lincoln Memorial after the DAR had turned her down. They know of Ickes' appointment of a Negro governor to the Virgin Islands which southern senators are now blocking, and his many speeches in Negro centers during crucial days of past campaigns.

Result of all these events; even more optimistic Democrast will admit that the strategic Negro cote which once went solid for Roosevelt has now slipped over to the GOP column.

STRENGTH—Sumner Welles

Two years ago the United States had reached a peak of industrial and agricultural production and all elements among the American people were working together in unparalleled unity. Today production within the United States has been largely halted, and American unity is disintegrating.

Today the Russian people are continuing as one man to fashion the military and industrial strength demanded by the government.

GRAND MUFTI—Edgar Ansel Mowrer

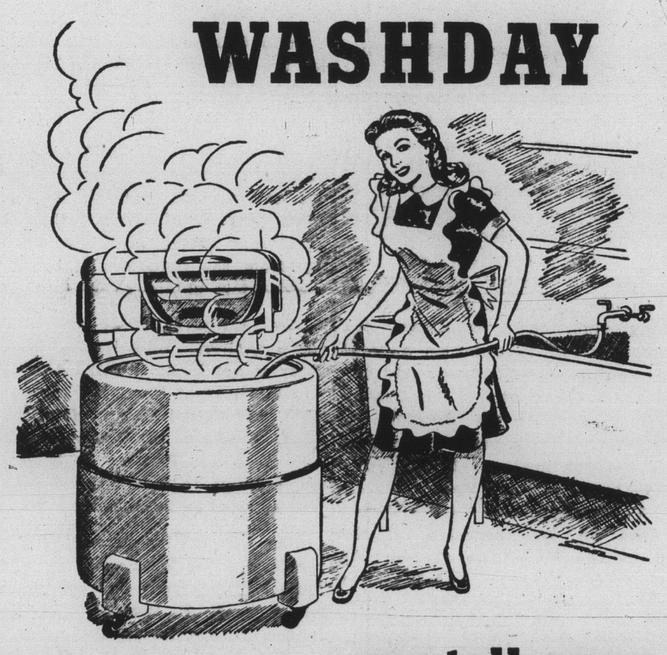
It is obviously time the full career of Haj el Husseini former grand mufti of Jerusalem should be bought into the light of day. This fanatical Jew-baiter is believed to be responsible for instigating Arab riots in Palestine and for the murder of Palestinian Jews. He bears the entire responsibility for the Iraqui revolt of 1941 against the United Nations.

He is known as the author of a letter to his fuehrer Hitler in 1942 promising the support of the Arab people—yet the Arab gentleman when last heard of had not even been invited to take his place among the nazi prisoners at Nuernberg. He is supposed to be living somewhere in France in full liberty.

CIO LEADERSHIP—Frank R. Kent

True, the CIO has great publicity advantages over the other side but the stuff it has been putting out recently is so largely phony and unfounded that however palatable it may be to the public masses it is difficult to understand how it can fail to revolt and faily in former person. The truth is that in its controversy with the General Mtors and United States Steel the CIO has utilized its superior propaganda position to consistently distort the facts and misrepresent its opponents.

WASHDAY



can tell you a lot about your Water Heater

How does your water heater "size up" on washday? If family use of hot water in bathrooms or kitchen drains down your water heater so you must wait or do your laundry with luke-warm water, your water heater is too small.
Modern homes need a water heater with at least 30 gallons water storage capacity. • When you build a new or remodel your present home be sure to have your plumber "size up" your hot water needs according to the chart below.

How to "Size up" Hot Water Requirements

Minimum Recommendations for Normal, Average Hot Water Service.

Number Bathrooms	Number Bedrooms	Storage Capacity Gallons
1	1 or 2	30
1	3 or 4	40
2	2 or 3	40
2	4 or 5	50
3	3	50
3 or 4	4 or 5	75

Remember, too, a large size water heater costs very little more to operate. It more than pays for itself in worry-free hot water service for the whole family.

HALF HERD OF SEA LIONS TO BE DESTROYED

SAN FRANCISCO, March 18—The California Fish and Game Commission will require the romeval of all solids from plant wastes discharged by fruit and vegetable plants into state waters either directly or indirectly it ruled at it's meeting here.

The commission also directed executive secretary Emil Ott and the Bureau of Marine Fisheries to work out an efficient method of destroying 50 per cent of the sea lion herd as rapidly as possible.

State commercial fisheries reported that the sea lions had been interfering with their catches for several years and urged the commission to work out a method of destroying half of the herd and thereby reducing their threat to the commercial industry.

Other items on the agenda receiving action by the board follows:

Recommendations made to the director of the department of natural resources for closing of various streams to sports fishing.

Granted H. H. Vantress a permit to take carp in Clear Lake, Lake County.

Granted a permit to R. B. Murchison and A. L. Schreiber to take carp and blackfish in Clear Lake.

Denied an application of the Stevenson Lake Corporation Orange Count to import fish from the U. S. fish and wildlife service, New Mexico.

Recommended appointment of a committee by the commercial fishing industry to work in cooperation with the commission and the bureau of marine fisheries.

Approved leasing of approximately 15 acres of land for a quail farm from Beaumont Irrigation District Company, Riverside County.

HUNTER PAID TO KILL PIGEONS

LOS ANGELES, March 16—The envy of nimrods is John Amos of this city who kills some 10,000 pigeons a year, and gets paid for it.

Chief of the municipal power bureau's pigeon control he has pursued ownerless pigeons for seven years thus minimizing power failures caused by birds short circuiting the electric lines. His work has the unqualified endorsement of the SPCA, Audubon society, Fish and game commission, police and several charities which get the quarry for eating purposes.

In additions to pigeons many hawks, woodpeckers, owls and sparrows also fall prey to his trusty small bore guns which together with ladders, coops, traps and kite sticks for removing birds bodies from roof top constitute his equipment. Traps at strategic points along the city's 6200 miles of power lines are visited 3 time weekly. Between times he picks pigeons and other fowls off the wires with guns designed to kill but not to carry beyond the target.

Back in 1933 the bureau found that birds were causing untold damage to its lines so four years later the pigeon control was organized. Ascertaning that it costs from $300 to $3000 to repair each damage caused by birds, the bureau figures that Amos' salary is money well spent. Besides liquidating some 75,000 birds since he started his career he has helped the state fish and game commission restock its preserves with a splendid game bird the Chinese pigeon often mistaken for a dove by novices. When trapped with other birds they are turned over to the commission. Twice weekly he inspects the lines for concentrations of pigeons since 100 or more at a pound apiece makes the wire sag dangerously.

CHAMBER ASKS TRUMAN TO SAVE ASPARAGUS CROP

Appeal to President Truman to take immediate action for settlement of the AFL-CIO jurisdictional dispute that is paralyzing the California canning industry has been telegraphed to the White House by the California Chamber of Commerce. This action follows study of the critical situation by the organization's board of directors.

The telegram signed by Harry A. Mitchell vice president of the state chamber of commerce, with a copy also sent to Secretary Clinton P. Anderson, department of agriculture, follows:

"The California State Chamber of Commerce, with a membership of 6000 business and agricultural leaders from every area of California, urgently requests from you such emergency action as will save the growers of this state from the loss of their 1946 fruit and vegetable crops.

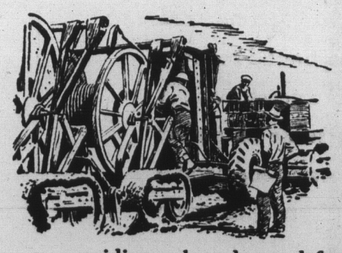
"This situation, which threatens serious food shortage for consumers, grows out of a jurisdictional strike resulting from a ruling of the National labor Relations Boar setting aside the October 1945 cannery workers' election, and making the requirement that employers negotiate with both the CIO and the AFL.

"The entire canning asparagus crop is now threatened. Normally, pack of this crop, which last year totalled approximately 53,000 tons starts April 1. We know you realize unlike industrial products, fruits and vegetables are perishable and losses incurred can never be recovered. Many farmers face the loss of their entire year's production.

"The present strike prevents over hauling of machinery and preparation of plants to handle the cannery pack in California, which last year, through approximately 100 canneries totalled 55,000,000 cases valued at $335,000,000.

"This represents approximately 35 per cent of the fruit and vegetable pack of the nation. This matter is, therefore, of the utmost importance to every consumer in the land. Thousands of jobs in canning and related operations are at stake.

200,000 miles of new long distance circuits will be built in 1946
Big expansion program under way to speed your calls



This year alone, as part of a $400,000,000 five-year expansion program, more than 200,000 miles of new toll and long distance circuits are planned for the Pacific Coast.

For we're on our way to providing a broader and faster long distance service than you have ever had before.

Everything possible is being done to expand long distance facilities now and to prepare the way for many new improvements to come. We handled more than 346 million toll and long distance calls in 1945 — nearly a million a day—and we're gearing up to handle an ever-increasing volume as the West continues to grow through the years to come.

GOV. WARREN ANNOUNCES HIS CANDIDACY

"This is the year and the season when those who serve the people of California give an accounting of their stewardship and make known their intentions for the future. I am ready to make such an accounting as the basis for seeking the governorship of my native state for a second time.

I have no new promises to make. I shall stand again upon those on which you relied in electing me four years ago—plain promises that dealt with fundamentals.

I promised first that I would work to bring about united effort in California during the war. I told you I would devote myself to the cause of honest, independent, humane, forward looking and financially sound government, free from petty partisanship and political manipulation. I said I would surround myself with honest and capable people and stand firmly with them against every selfish or narrow interest. I promised to reestablish the integrity of civil service, reorganize state agncies, reduce state taxes and prepare for the future of the fastest growing and greatest state of the Union.

I have kept those promises and I earnestly invite your careful scrutiny of my performance record.

Our state government was in the war one hundred per cent cooperating fully with the federal government and successfully meeting every test.

In my administration of state government there has been one rule of conduct for all. I have insisted on absolute honesty in every department under my control and have made it clear to every appointee of mine that our only policy would be to hew to the line of public interest without political favoritism or enmity toward any group or any individual. Our special concern has always been for those who most need the helping hand of government.

"I have been able to reorganize most of our state departments for broader and better public service unvice has been extended and released der modern conditions. The civil serfrom politics. We have striven for solvency by guarding state revenues, by wiping out our bonded debt for the first time in history, by financing the construction needs of our state institutions up to 1950 by keeping a balanced budget and by reducing the burden of state taxation to the extent of two hundred and twenty five million dollars.

"If you believe in these things and in my honesty of purpose in trying to achieve them, if you believe my training and my experience will insure continued accomplishment, then I shall feel justified in asking your support for another term—during which state problems will be even more complex and require more careful handling than during the war.

"State programs that will speed housing, help veterans, stimulate industry, agriculture and employment, advance health and safety, improve education, develop natural resources, protect older persons and the helpless—these are not mere party problems. They are problems that must be dealt with by administrators who are thinking only in terms of the happiness and welfare of all our people in their homes at their work and at their leisure—regardless of pressure from either right or left. This is not always an easy thing to do, but it is always the proper thing to do.

"I am a Republican but as has been the practice with candidates for Caliornia state office for 30 years I shall seek the support of the people of both parties who believe in this kind of approach to state government. I can do this honorably because I am independent and therefore in a position to serve the people fairly regardless of their politics or mine.

"I am not interested in machine politics. I have not tried to build a political machine. No man should be permitted to be both governor and a political boss. I am not running because of the insistence of any group. I am running as an individual Californian who would rather serve the people of his state than do any other thing. My one and only allegiance is to them.

"I shall campaign as vigorously as time and my duties permit. I shall start from scratch to develop an organization of citizens to help me during this campaign—just as I did 4 years ago. I will need the support of every independent Californian and I shall be most grateful for it."

Note: Governor Warren will speak over the Mutual Network at 7:15 o'clock Monday evening, March 18.

To The People Of Nevada County

HAVING DECLARED MY INTENTIONS TO BE A CANDIDATE FOR SUPERIOR JUDGE, I SUBMIT BRIEFLY AS MY QUALIFICATIONS AND FITNESS FOR THE HIGHEST OFFICE IN THE GIFT OF THE CITIZENS OF OUR COUNTY.

I established my office in the county January 1, 1916, and have since continuously practiced here and ten years prior in San Francisco, appearing in all courts.

After being fairly well acquainted with the greater portion of the United States, I selected this county in which to live, work, play and spend the remainder of my life.

During my thirty years of continuous practice and residence, I was District Attorney twelve consecutive years. As legal advisor of the county officers, and prosecutor, I became intimately acquainted with the conditions and advantages of the county, and thoroughly familiar with the legal and practical application of the Junevile Court laws and provisions. Being city attorney for several years, I became well acquainted with the many legal problems of incorporated and unincorporated cities and towns.

In addition to my legal work, I have devoted available time and finances to all causes, the objects of which were to aid the educational, social, industrial and recreational conditions and the development of the natural resources of Nevada County.

Respectfully,

W. E. WRIGHT

Mystery Shrouds Alleghany Death

Paul Bergemann, owner of Holmas Funeral Home returned from Alleghany with the body of Ballantyne Browne, found dead in the barroom of the Golden Eagle Inn Tuesday morning when employes of the hotel went to work.

Bergemann stated that foul play is suspected by Coroner Phil Newburg and Sheriff Dewey Johnson who were in Alleghany investigating the death and that an inquest will be held in Downieville tomorrow.

Browne was found by Jack Shrek and Jim Rose of Alleghany, while on their way to work, unconscious and covered with snow in the street. They believed him drunk and carried him into the warm barroom of the Golden Eagle Inn. His pants were missing and it is believed he carried a considerable sum of money.

Bergemann stated that an examination of Browne's body revealed deep fracture of the skull in the back of the head. Nothing is known of Browne's relatives save that during his drinking at various bars the night before he had mentioned a wealthy brother in San Francisco.

Army Awards 1,725,344 Medals During War

A total of 1,725,344 army decorations and awards were made to army personnel from December 7, 1941 through November 30, 1945, the war department announced today. The total includes all decorations or the awards granted except the Purple Heart which was given all men wounded in action.

The legion of merit was awarded to 9490 officers and 2795 enlisted men. It is granted for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of out standing services.

The medal of honor the nation's highest military award given only for gallantry and intreprdity at the risk of life above and beyond the call of duty had been granted to 240 army men for service in World War II through November 30, 1945. The other army decorations for valor and achievement in the order of their precedence were awarded as follows: Distinguished Service Cross 4036; Distinguished Service Medal 987; Silver Star 69,027; Legion of Merit 12,285; Distinguished Flying Cross 124,827; Soldiers Medal 11,345; Bronze Star 340,510; Air Medal 1,-162,087.

Of the 240 medals of honor 177 were awarded to infantrymen. The infantry also received most of the distinguished service crosses, 2679 and the largest number of both the silver star 42,185 and the bronze star 155,409.

The Army Air Corps received the largest number of docerations of the total awarded to all the arms and services 1,304,399. Of these 1,-147,635 were awards of the air medal which in most cases is based on the number of combat mission flown and is awarded almost exclusively to air force personnel. The Eighth Air Force which was in operation longer than any other air force overseas, led with 505,351 decoration, 577,-282 air medals were awarded to officers over 80 per cent of which went to lieutenants and 584,805 were awarded to enlisted men.

Enlisted men were awarded 157 models of honor, 2142 distinguished service crosses, 46,671 silver stars, 355,745 bronze star medals and 9143 soldiers medals. Officers received 83 medals of honor, 1894 distinguished service crosses, 22,356 silver stars, 84,765 bronze star medals and 2202 soldiers medals.

Privates first class led by a wide margin all grades of officers and enlisted men in the number of decorations for heroism. Among officers, the junior grades, second lieutenants first lieutenants and captains, who received the most casualties and commanded the smaller units, predominated over field grade and general officers in all combat awards with first lieutenants taking the lead.

The army's highest non combat award the distinguished service medal is awarded for exceptionally meritorious service in a position of great responsibility. Criteria established for the distinguished service medal normally can be met only by officers of high rank who must exercise independent initiative in decisions of great importance. It was awarded to 986 officers and one enlisted man, Staff Sergeant Joseph L. Lockhard who as a private on duty with an aircraft detector unit at Hawaii on December 7, 1941 remained on duty after the completion of the scheduled operation period and recognized signals indicating a flight of planes approximately 132 miles distant and promptly reported his readings. It was later established that the approaching planes thus reported were the Japs attacking force.

Small Harbors Campaign For North Coast Pushed

SAN FRANCISCO, March 18—A campaign to develop small harbors for fishing boats and pleasure craft along the California coast is under way the California state chamber of commerce announced.

Acting as a coordinating agency the state chambef has requested California congressmen to introduce legislation authorizing a study by army engineers of harbors for light draft vessels. Such authority already exists for southern California.

Frank M. Shay of San Jose, chairman of the central coast committee pointed out that the small harbors would provide refuge and landing facilities for the commercial fishing industry which landed a billion and a quarter pounds of fish in California ports last year. More anchorage and refuges would result in increased catches he said. In addition such harbors could be used by small craft owners for recreational purposes.

According to Shay, northern and central California harbors which could be fitted into the program include Crescent City harbor, Humboldt harbar, Noyo, Albion, Point Arena, Bodega Bay, Richardson's Bay, Petaluma River, Napa River, Tomales Bay, Bolinas, Richmond, Martinez, Oakland outer harbor, Half Moon bay, Santa Cruz, Moss Landing, Monterey, Big Sur and Morro bay.

Noonday Rock of the Farallon Islands off San Francisco is a submerged peak named for the clipper Noonday which struck it and sank there in 1863.
